

You've got fragments
of your parents' lives.

Here's how to get the whole story.

1

Start with an object.

"Tell me about this ring."

2

Ask what they were afraid of,

not just what happened.

3

Leave the silence.

Don't rescue it.

4

Ask “and then what?”

three times before you let them move on.

5

End with:

“Who else was there? Who should I ask?”

The whole guide is the Conversation Playbook.
